Managing a Race.

CONVERSATION BETWEEN A GAMBLER AND A

GROOM.

Lopes—I have just looked 'n for a moment

Cato, to see that all is right; there'll be no mistake, eh?

Groom—No, massa—no mistake; all right,

sar.

Lopes—The mare doesn't seem amiss, now,

I suppose you know how things will be managed.

Groom—Ov course, massa, me know; me is a man of hanner, sar; when me say a ting me

will do it.

Lopes—No use, I suppose, in asking how you mean to manage matters?

Groom—Bes for not talk too much, massa,

me want to order fifty dollars when me is married, and me mean to get dem.

Lopes—And if the other side were to suspect anything, and were to offer you more than the fifty to let them win, you would still be true?

Groom—Yes, sar, true as 'tee; me dare

any pussion to say that Cato abber do anyting

unsuom.

Lopes—Then you are quite sure of the rest of the money. I wouldn't mind putting on twenty-five dollars more, if I knew how you were going to manage it.

Groom—Bes for massa not to know too much, den him can say, S'p'megad, all right,

me know natten about it.

Lopes—It will not be necessary for me to say that, I am sure. I should, however, like to know what is to happen. Here is a doub-loon of the twenty-five dollars if you like to tell.

Groom—Bery well, massa, me like do dou-

loon well, 'Tarnish coach-wheeled dem call it.

You see, massa, when dem mare run, him

might be lily bit tender 'pon him toes, so dat him don't go well. By my, when dem come to examine him he look all 'trait again—you see?

Lopes—Well, I see the idea, but I don't understand how it is to be done.

Groom—Supposin' now, dat jus' before dem saddle, him pick up a 'tone in him foot.

Him can't run, den. Dem supposin' now, dem can't make out what de debil de matter

de dare. What dem call bysterious.

Lopes—See, I see. But are you sure that you will get the opportunity of doing this cleverly at the right time?

Groom—Me has done de same ting two or tree times before, massa. Don't be 'traid. If Cato take de money him will deserve it; him

'corn to do dishannerable ting; he!

Lopes—Well, I rely on you; and you will now have fifty-nine dollars more when all is right.

Groom—Yes, massa; tank you, sar, hanner bright. By dis time to-morrow, sar, you will know dat Cato do him duty an' hand by you.

Preparing Stock for Winter.

In every portion of the world where the climate is subject to great extremes of temperature—where the warm season of summer, with the thermometer often at ninety degrees, is succeeded by the severe cold weather of winter, with the mercury often ten degrees

below zero, nature has exhibited a generous care in the provision made for protecting animal life from the severe cold by an abundant covering, which with the approach of warm weather again, is by the same hand carefully removed. In the digestive apparatus, which approach of cold weather in nature the natural covering of animals, be it hair, wool or fur, is materially increased; this with such other protection as the instinct of wild animals naturally secures, is generally sufficient with food,

to carry them safely through the inclement and exhausting season. In addition, there is also with the cold weather of autumn an increased desire for fat producing food, with greater activity in the digestive apparatus, which results in the deposit of fat throughout the tissues of the body. This affords additional protection to the animal, and aids in keeping alive the vital fires and sustaining the animal life. Beyond all these our domestic animals, as the horse, cow, swine, sheep, &c., require for their protection to be housed in warm stables and to be fed with plenty of heat-producing food. It would be greatly to the advantage of our farmers if they would heed the suggestions of nature in this respect by seeing to it that all their animals go into winter quarters in good condition, with a layer of fat

well spread over their bodies. Fat animals are warmer and require much less food than those that are in a lean and poor condition.

All animals, not even excepting man, that are fat, warm and well fed, are good-natured and happy. Cold and lean, with nervous irritation from any cause, are most depressing and exhausting to the vital forces. Fat animals that are abused by unkind and irritating treatment, and are improperly protected from the cold, require double the food that animals

do who receive the opposite treatment.

Therefore we say to our agricultural readers that for economy's sake, protect your cattle and horses, your sheep and lambs from the cold; give them shelter from the autumnal

storms, house them early in the season, especially at night; make them comfortable as possible with kind intercourse, plenty of food and warm shelter. To say nothing of the humanity of such treatment, it is by far the most profitable.

BREVITIES.

—The city authorities of Salem, N. J., have ordered the purchase of 50,000 bushels of aster shells, with which to pave their streets.

—The creditors of an absconded banker

found, on opening his safe, that the only thing

he had laid up for a rainy day was an umbrella.

—An unsatisfied De Moines boy at a camp meeting told a preacher's horse to water, and while absent was $5 from another unsatisfied

unicorn in a horse race.

—A Detroit paper states that last week

a man about fifty years of age, accompanied by a wife who looked well older, applied at the ticket office of the Central road for tickets to Jackson. When told the price he demurred and asked for second-class accommodations. There were none to be had, and after withdrawing for a consultation he returned to the window and asked: "Well, won't you knock off a dollar if the old woman will ride on the platform?"

—How a wife was swapped for a horse is thus told by the San Francisco Chronicle: Comstock, the man who took all the prestige of the discovery that bears his name, has lots of money, houses and lands, and he set out to find a loving companion to share his worldly goods with him. A Mr. Carter, living near Comstock's camp, was poor, but he was possessed of a young wife, and upon the ground that a fair exchange was no robbery

they made a trade; Comstock gave a horse valued at $225 and $75 in money, making

$300, for the wife and to make the matter

more lending Comstock gave Carter a bill of sale of the horse, and Carter gave Comstock a similar document with the unsig-nature of the animal was sound, kind and true, and warranted not to kick in the harness. But the novelty of a transaction so revolving to a woman of any spirit soon wore away, and Comstock's wife and money left him about the same time.

CITY NOTES.
—Fanning's Dancing Class opens on Tuesday, 21st October.
—The faculty member of Cornell House has had an entire new suit made for the Poughkeepsie trip on Friday.
—One batch of the noble six hundred of candidates out of their support—Sheriff, County Clerk and Poor Superintendent. "Oh! the wild charge they made!"
—John C. Broadhead has given $25 to pay for the band which accompanies Cornell House to Poughkeepsie. Has John C. realized on Pacific Mail?
—Charles Altenburgh now attends regularly to his duties as night watchman on Abell, Union and Bond streets, to which he has been re-appointed by the Mayor.
—The ladies of the Rondout Presbyterian Church are now in deep discussion over the most appropriate and tasteful style of upholstery and carpet for the new edifice.
—Nobody in the city celebrated the anniversary of the discovery of America. All the women were washing, and all the men shining.
—These joyous October days we are having puts life in every one and calls out of doors to enjoy the delicious air everybody who can get out.
—The semi-annual house cleaning agony is about to commence and the heads of families are rushing about seeking information as to the best way of putting up stoves and shaking carpets—two subjects about which the human race is lamely ignorant.
—It is said that "figures won't lie"—but if they won't that saying will. We're tried to keep up the tone of high water at the bar, but miss quite sometimes by half an hour.
—That Gulf Stream will have to be regulated again.
—The Aldermen are getting "potted up" for the annual Fire Department parade. We are reliable informed that No. 3's heavy member will head that company, a position he filled with much credit to himself and the company last year. "Stod" and "Low" will also be on deck, but they've had their belts out a peg or two.
—These are the days when maidens can be seen wending their way homeward with school books under arm, and a handful of gorgeous yellow autumn leaves in their hands. But the leaves are not so bright as the arrow of the glances of the eyes, nor so brilliant as the white and red of their complexions.
—Michael Brophy, who was appointed one of the Assembly District Committee at the Democratic County Convention held at P. J. Clare's on Monday, declines such appointment, and furthermore denounces the action of the Convention throughout as illegal and unjust. Mr. Brophy requested our reporter to make this statement.

Persons.
Doctor Richard Ellinger and Captain Nathan Anderson, two of Ulster county's oldest citizens and an old friend of the late John Griffiths, Esq., attended the funeral at Elmore's Corner on Monday last.
Drowned.
On Tuesday a dispatch was received by Michael H. Larkin, the grocer corner of Division and Meadow streets, informing him that his sister, Mrs. Owen Maloy, had been drowned at Bemis Heights, where she was with her husband on his boat. No other particulars were given.
Rapid Hose Mill.
Rapid Hose Company No. 1 is first in the field with its annual ball this year, having decided to hold it on the evening of November 12th at Washington Hall. That the occasion will be one that cannot fail to bring enjoyment to all who participate is needless to say. There is no thing the Rapid Hose men understand to perfection—how to get to a fire on time and handle themselves in a business-like way after they get there, and how to conduct a ball in a style that leaves nothing but the happiest recollections after it is over, by them and their guests.
Singular Interruption of a Church Service.
Rev. Mr. Hughes, pastor of the State Street Methodist church, was interrupted in a very novel manner while preaching his sermon last night. He was relating an instance of a young wife who had lost her child, and refused to be comforted even by the word of God. At this point a man arose in the centre of the church and shouted out, "If I should have been the same old man who lost the old man, and before any one could even see his face he left the church. The interruption lasted but a moment, but the audience were convulsed with laughter. The person who caused the interruption is supposed to be Isaac Cooper—Troy Times.
Republican Nominations.
The slate for the Republican ticket is still Terwilliger for Sheriff, and Friend Hor. Jr. for County Clerk. The latter nomination, however, depends upon the final conclusion of the judicial candidates. If Mr. Kenyon decides to accept, Mr. Hor. will not. Tom Johnson, the old "Temperance war horse," has had some thought of running, and the somewhat unsophisticated idea that the delegates really exercised some choice in the matter, but since he has discovered that it is a nomination, he has decided to stay at home. A letter was written on a slip of paper and a towel away in a lawyer's pigeon-hole when the Harbor-master died was ended last winter, and all the delegates are expected to do is to blow the dust off the so the Secretary can read the writing, he is considerably embarrassed and feelingly observes, "What wonder we're having!"
Missionary Meetings.
A series of missionary meetings will be held under the direction of the Western Convention of this Diocese, in St. John's Church, Kingston, as follows:
Thursday, Oct. 16, 7 P. M.—Addresses from different members of the Convention, with reports of work.
Friday, 10:30 A. M.—Full service with the Holy Eucharist. The sermon by the Rev. Wm. Elias Ashley, D. D., Rector of St. Paul's Church, Milwaukee, Wis.
Friday, 7 P. M.—Addresses by the Rev. Benj. I. Haight, D. D., Rev. George F. Seymour, D. D., Rev. H. M. Thompson, D. D., Rev. Thomas Galland, D. D., Rev. J. N. Gallaher, The Lord Bishop of Zanzibar, and other distinguished Clergy.
Saturday, 10 A. M.—Institution Services of the Rev. Water DeWitt, M. A. Sermon by the Bishop of New York.
Sunday, 10:30 A. M.—Sermon by the Bishop of Wisconsin. Subject: "God's Church a Free Church."
Clergy will please bring supplies. Clergy and Lay Delegates will meet at the Rectory on Green street, near Malden Lane, when arriving, that quarters may be assigned to all.

Democratic County Convention.
The Convention was called to order at 12:30 o'clock by Mr. John W. Kerr, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee.
On motion Capt. John Francis of Sangerlee was chosen Chairman, and Mr. T. E. Benedict and Mr. M. J. Madden, Secretaries.
On motion the Secretary called the names of the towns and the respective delegates headed in their credentials.
On motion the convention took a recess until 2 o'clock P. M., the Secretary in the meantime to make out a list of delegates from the credentials. The following were the delegates present:

AFTERNOON SESSION.
The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock, and all persons not delegates or reporters were requested to leave the room.
On motion John Casey was appointed door-keeper.
On motion a count was made of the delegates to ascertain whether there were any persons in the room who did not belong there, when it was found that Joseph Smith and Isaac Rosepaugh appeared as reporters for the Saugerties Telegraph. Considerable discussion was here entered into by the delegates as to allowing more than one reporter for a paper. It was finally resolved to allow only one reporter for each paper, the delegates from Saugerties to choose which of the two should remain in the room. Isaac Rosepaugh was chosen.
J. B. Deyo and Amos Wamsley were appointed Tellers.
A letter was then read from Lewis Hardenburgh of Gardiner, in which he asked for the nomination of Sheriff. On motion it was placed on file.
An informal ballot was then taken for Sheriff, which resulted as follows:

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

CITY NOTES.

Fanning's Dancing Class opens on Tuesday, 21st October.

The farthest member of Cornell House has made an entire new suit made for the Poughkeepsie trip on Friday.

One batch of the noble six hundred of candidates out of their suspense—Sheriff, County Clerk and Poor Superintendent. "Oh! the wild charge they made!"

John C. Broadhead has given $25 to pay for the band which accompanies Cornell House to Poughkeepsie. Has John C. realized on Pacific Mail?

Charles Altenburg now attends regularly to his duties as night watchman on Abbe, Union and Home streets, to which he has been re-appointed by the Mayor.

The ladies of the Rondout Presbyterian Church are now in deep discussion over the most appropriate and tasteful style of upholstery and carpet for the new edifice.

Nobody in the city celebrated the anniversary of the discovery of America. All the women were washing, and all the men shining.

These joyous October days we are having pass a life in every one's mind of doors to enjoy the delicious air everybody who can get out.

The semi-annual house cleaning agency is about to commence and frantic heads of families are rushing about seeking information as to the handiest way of putting up stoves and shaking carpets—two subjects about which the human race is lamentably ignorant.

It is said that "figures won't lie"—but if they won't, we will. We've tried to keep up on the time of high water at the bar. But miss quite sometimes by half an hour. That Gulf Stream will have to be regulated again.

The Aldermen are getting "prettied up" for the annual Fire Department parade. We are reliable informed that No. 4's heaviest member will head that company, a position he filled with much credit to himself and the company last year. "Good" and "Love" will also be on deck, but they've had their belts let out a peg or two.

These are the days when mailmen can be seen wending their way homeward with school books under arm, and a handful of gorgeous, yellow colored autumn leaves in their hands. But the leaves are not so bright as the arrow glance of the ladies' eyes, nor so brilliant as the white and red of their completions.

Michael Brophy, who was appointed one of the Assembly District Committee at the Democratic Assembly Convention held at P. J. Clare's on Monday, declines such appointment, and furthermore denounces the action of the Convention throughout as illegal and unjust. Mr. Brophy requested our reporter to make this statement.

Tides.

High Water at Rondout Light House today at 9:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

Personal.

Doctor Richard Ellings and Captain Nathan Anderson, two of Ulster county's oldest citizens and an old friend of the late John Griffiths, Esq., attended the funeral at Elmwood's Corner on Monday last.

Drowned.

On Tuesday a dispatch was received by Michael H. Larkin, the grocer corner of Division and Meadow streets, informing that his sister, Mrs. Owen Maloy, had been drowned at Bemis Heights, where she was with her husband on his boat. No other particulars were given.

Rapid Hose Ball.

Rapid Hose Company No. 1 is first in the field with its annual ball this year, having elected to hold it on the evening of November 12th at Washington Hall. That the occasion will be one that cannot fail to be enjoyable to all who participate in it is needless to assume. There are two things the Rapids understand to perfection—how to get a fire on time and handle themselves in a businesslike way after they get there, and how to conduct a ball in a style that leaves nothing but the happiest recollections after it is over, by them and their guests.

Singular Interruption of a Church Sermon.

Rev. Mr. Hughes, pastor of the State street Methodist church, was interrupted in a very novel manner while preaching his sermon last night. He was relating an instance of a young wife who had lost by death her child, and refused to be comforted even by the word of God. At this point a man arose in the centre of the church and shouted out, "It would have been the same if she had lost the old man," and before any one could even see his face he left the church. The interruption lasted but a moment, but the audience were convulsed with laughter. The person who caused the interruption is supposed to be in the city.—Troy Times.

Republican Nominations.

The slate for the Republican ticket is Eli Terwilliger for Sheriff, and John H. J. Jr. for County Clerk. The latter nomination, however, depends upon the final conclusion of the judicial candidates. If Mr. Kenyon does not accept, Mr. J. H. J. will not, and Johnson, the old "Temperance war horse," has had some thought of running, under the name of what unphilosophical idea the delegates really exercised their choice in the matter, but since he has discovered that a nomination was written on a slip of paper and edged away in a lawyer's pigeon-hole when the Harbor-master flight was ended last winter, and all the delegates are expected to do is to blow the dust off so the Secretary can read the writing, he is considerably harrassed and feelingly observes, "What wonder were we having!"

The Democratic County Convention—Incidents.

Long before the Court House bell rang Tuesday to call the delegates together, a large crowd of people from all parts of the county had gathered in the vicinity of the grey stone building, gravely canvassed the result, and laid their plans for the coming contest. Each candidate had hosts of friends, and nearly all of them were quite sanguine their man would make his mark in the convention. After the convention had assembled at two o'clock, and the preliminaries had been quickly led to the court-room, the good folks found a footing on the landing at the head of the stairs, and there with much seeming anxiety awaited the result. The candidates were there also, and it was an amusing study to watch their faces and the sudden changes that came over them, as the result was announced, according as the following announced was favorable or not to their interests.

Now and then a delegate would rush out and elbow his way down the stairs and come back soon after wiping his nose and looking much refreshed. As one candidate after another dropped off the excitement became greater, and the spectators rushed forward from the room looking for their chiefs. Then came the announcement—Vandervoort 29; Hamilton 21; DeGarmo 16.

A dead silence ensued for a moment or two, and then there was another pressure for Vandervoort and Hamilton. The two candidates were making a final effort, and their faces showed anything but pleasant feelings during the suspense of these few minutes. The wire-pullers again passed in the room, and in a short time came the result of the final struggle—Vandervoort 44, Hamilton 21. A tremendous hurrah went up from the excited friends of the Woodstock candidate, and then the lucky man was taken down stairs, a great crowd following with shouts of congratulation until they arrived at the Corner House, where the click of glasses told the lubricating result of their patient watching. After the members of the Convention had also duly refreshed themselves the balloting was resumed. The struggle for County Clerk was close, but the influence of one man in the lobby turned the tables and brought out Poland far ahead. After this there was no enthusiasm except by various parties, who were becoming more and more interested in the neighboring saloons over their cups. The remainder of the balloting was done quietly, after which many of the delegates started for their homes. Of course the drinking saloons had a good business, and the amount of salivary imbued would have floated an ordinary-sized canal boat.

A Newspaper Dodge.

Our citizens were "brought to their feet" yesterday by the cry of newsmen. "New York extras, great excitement!" Their stock of papers, a New York Era, a Sunday Journal and other rapidly at ten cents each, almost everybody striving to secure one to learn the nature of the news. They were rewarded with the following piece of intelligence:

Governor Dix.

Our special despatch from Albany, of the 30th of September, has the following:

"It is reported that Gov. Dix, Thaw and Mayor Havemeyer and other leading men have written letters throughout the State advising the defeat in the nominating convention of Senators Woodin, James Wood, Winslow, Madden, Baker and one or two others, who are candidates for re-nomination," etc.

We are able to say, on the highest authority, so far as Gov. Dix is concerned, that he has written no letter to any one, whatever, advising against the re-nomination of any member of the senate, and that the foregoing statement is totally unfounded.

The managers of that sheet have the satisfaction of playing a sharp dodge on the public.—Poughkeepsie Press.

ALONG THE RIVER.

Alum Culver (of Matteawan) was in Poughkeepsie on Saturday last, seeking a daughter who had run away from home, but he was not successful in his search.

The Kellogg of Cold Spring and the Poughkeepsie Juniors each have won a match game for the junior championship of the Hudson River. The third game will be played at Matteawan, but no date has been settled upon.

Mrs. Henschel, of Nyack, while engaged a few days ago in shelling out an old dress, observed a millinery paper book drop from it. Curiosity led her to open it, and in so doing she found $150 stowed between its leaves. It is supposed her deceased husband had placed it there for a wet day.

"Hank" Ward is training the eight-oared barge crew of the Palisade Club of Yonkers for their race with the Vesper crew, which takes place on October 22d.

Their other day special train went up the Hudson River Railroad. It stopped at Hudson and the following conversation between Commodore Vanderbilt and a Hudson River passenger is reported by the Star:

Commodore (to boarder)—Society, have you any cigars?

Boarder—Yes, sir. (Box set out.)

Commodore—Are these the best you have got?

Boarder—No, sir; we've some for fifteen cents.

Commodore—D—n the price; I want the best you got.

Assyrian Discovery.

Mr. George Smith writes to the London Daily Telegraph: "The collection brought home by the expedition confined to my charge includes over 400 separate inscriptions, besides various objects of art, domestic economy, implements, &c. The inscriptions throw new light on the history, politics, astronomy, mythology, geography, and history of ancient Assyria; but it would be tedious to your readers to inflict on them a critical and minute examination of all these texts. I will, therefore, select a few characteristic specimens of the collection, and I shall commence with a text that has attracted most attention—that, namely, which belongs to the Deluge series. When last year I published a translation of the text in question, it was obliged to note with regret that in the first column of the inscription there were about fifteen lines entirely lost. The lacuna occurred at a point of high interest to students and the world in general—for the Deluge inscription is about to give orders for the embarkation in the ark. It is needless, therefore, to say with what satisfaction I lighted upon the welcome tablet which fills up this very important gap. The fragment I found during the Daily Telegraph expedition belongs to the first column of the Deluge series; and it continues the speech of the god Ea, the commissioner of which is on the portion of tablet already in the museum. On the fragment of the old cuneiform, Ea tells his wife to warn the world, because of the wickedness of the people; on the Daily Telegraph portion Ea continues by predicting the flood, and then commences a list of names."

"On the coming of the flood which I shall send, thou shalt enter into the ship, and the door of the ship turn, then shall send into the midst of it thy corn, thy furniture and goods, thy gold and silver, thy male slaves, and thy female slaves, the sons of the army, the beasts of the field, and the birds of the air, all that thou shalt see, thou shalt bring in."
